Blog Article Writing:

I write online blog posts, about tech, finance, cyber security, console modding.

Content Creation:

I produce and create content for pretty much all the well known social media platforms out there, and the even the less known smaller platforms, my content is often associated with video games, memes, online dramas, game modding, console modding, and a lot more, my content tends to shift into a lot of different things, and it's hard to pin-point what I do exactly.

Discord Server Owner/Admin/Mod:

I've been part of many Discord servers in the past, as either admin, mod, or many other roles, and have even been the owner.

I've coded and scripted many automation programs for specific websites, I once even tried to make one to automatically apply for jobs for me with Python and CURL, you might be able to find some of these on my GitHub, but keep in mind, most of this work isn't publicly documented, meaning only I have access to them.

Leaving note

To the person that didn't properly read my CV with the same amount of enthusiasm I read it to myself in, I hope you have an amazing day, and I hope you can grant me the job.

In case I haven't told you yet, my name is Zayd, and you can refer to me as any of the nicknames provided on Page 3. I also have social anxiety, so it would be very nice if you could keep that in mind.

Thank you so much for giving me a chance, by reading through all of this shit!

Enjoy your day, sir or mam or something more :3
